

The Ely Underground

The Smell Of Fear Stinks!

A Letter From The Editor

If you were to come and ask me who is the most chaotic old lady in all the world, my first reaction would normally have been to point to the Llama; however, with the reappearance of Hitler I no longer feel this way. Although, I now have good news pertaining to her. The fear of a Lloyd/Hitler alliance was dispelled when she took his Magic(tm) cards. Thus, the appearance of Hitler to his hitlist and the apparent death of her is sight. Then the Llama can once again hold the reigns to his usurped title.

As we approach the esteemed 10th issue, we must decide how we are going to approach it. There will be a nomination votes by the E.U. staff for the best article that will be openly voted on for the best, The Llama's greatest hits, and a compilation of every Hit List for the All-Star Hitlist. Suggestions for this upcoming issue will be taken until #9 is available.

At any rate, we have a history breaking issue. The meeting of Ratboy and Lloyd, the signing of a treaty, and the Interview of the century are all included in this great issue....---TLM

Interview Of The Century

BY: The Llama

Well it finally happened folks, Christopher Lloyd talks to an Ely Underground reporter, the Llama. The Llama, being a master of disguise, pretended to be a yearbook staff member and asked Mr. Lloyd a few questions. These questions were very thought provoking and brought out the truth of Mr. Lloyd's inner mind. The questions are as follows:

- 1) What are your plans after high school?
- 2) How do you feel about magic?
- 3) Who is your role model?
- 4) What is your favorite song?
- 5) How did you feel about the Russians coming?
- 6) What is the biggest accomplishment in life?
- 7) If you were to become president, what will your first act in office be?
- 8) What is the weirdest thing that has happened to you at Ely?

His answers were simple yet deep. These answers will someday give us the power to overtake this evil mind and save the world.

(Continued On Last Page)

Symbols Spell Conquest, Curses, and Confrontation.

By Monkey boy

Lloyd: One man, one dream, to conquer the world at whatever the cost. To help him he has Ratboy. One-quarter man, three quarters rat. This dynamic duo was recently spotted in the library working on what we at the Underground consider to be a major component of that dream. They were drawing all over a piece of paper some strange symbol that looked liked two parallel lines with an X in the middle. A secret operative for the Underground attempted to purchase the paper in question, But Lloyd refused any sum we offered (Even 50 cents!). Apparently This symbol contains something more than the average viewer sees. We at the Underground have come up with three possibilities; Lloyd's new symbol, A Curse Master curse, or a new Ratboy attack pattern.

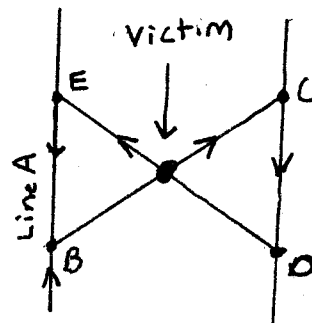

Should this be Lloyd's new symbol, we should all go home and cry to our mommies, because this means that Lloyd has finalized his plan for world conquest, and is now simply working on the small details, such as the official food (sources indicate Space Cheese), and what his new symbol would be. However, the twenty-one percent who voted for this option did seem to ignore one major detail. If it were his new symbol, why wouldn't he let us see it, so that we could start worshipping him right now?

Since it is not Lloyd's new symbol, another small percentage of the population felt that this was a new curse master curse. A source close to the Curse Master thinks that this may be so, because "KCM has been spending a lot of time alone, maybe this is a solution to all of his 'problems'." Let us not forget that this is the man who solved the mystery of life, and the secret to lotto in one short math class. If one of his "problems" is how to destroy the world, and he is sharing his knowledge with Lloyd this could definitely be a big DOH! for humanity.

X = Hakato Noi x 5

The third, and most popular option was that this is a new Ratboy attack pattern. most respondees who picked this option agreed with one pollster who said, "The X marks the spot where the victim stands." Another keen pollster noticed that "The two lines [on the side] look like the sides of a street." This pattern differs from that of a normal Ratboy attack pattern in so much as Ratboy usually just charges at his victim, and severs him in half. Apparently this strategy is for those more deadly of enemies, who require two hits (i.e. Big Goofy). If this is one of Ratboy's new attacks, it brings up the obvious question, how many other secret attacks does our mouse-like foe have, and more importantly, when will he and Lloyd implement them?

Whatever the case may be with that the most feared of symbols, It is obviously not a very good thing. So if Lloyd is walking down the hallway, and draws that symbol on your head, please ask him what it is before he kills you, THE WORLD NEEDS TO KNOW!

1. Ratboy runs along line A to point B
2. From point B Ratboy cuts through victim to C
3. Ratboy proceeds through C to D and gets back to line A
4. Ratboy quickly retreats the way he came from.

Monkey's boy poll of the week

Lloyd and Ratboy were seen repeatedly writing a symbol on a piece of paper, what is it

Lloyd's new symbol	21%
0% 	100%
A new Curse Master curse	21%
0% 	100%
A new Ratboy attack pattern	58%
0% 	100%

Top Ten Hitlist

(Lloyd Gang)

1. TLM (1)
2. M.B. (1)
3. Big Goofy
3. Llama (1)
5. KCM
6. Hitler (1)
7. Da Fat
8. U.N.
9. The Chosen
One
9. Clinton
9. B. Sagget

Ratboy in Love?

BY: The Fickle Goddess

Upon venturing into the dark world of the girls bathroom, this reporter of truth happened along a shocking revelation. Written on the bathroom wall was proof that maybe Ratboy is not neuter after all. In order to protect the identity of the guilty, the name of Ratboy's secret love will not be used. She/He/It will be hereby known as Ratgirl. Obviously she is so taken by him, (or perhaps forced by gunpoint), that she felt the need to proclaim their rodentia love. Alternate theory: Ratboy disguised himself as a girl (gee, that's tough) and snuck in there himself and wrote it on the wall to throw the suspicion off himself. The real question: Given the choice, wouldn't you go with Lloyd who has the real power, instead of one of his Henchmen?

Contract With The World

By: Monkey boy

A sigh of relief went out around the world as Lloyd, the scourge of planetary peace signed a temporary peace agreement. According to the terms of the agreement, Lloyd is to delay the conquest, and subsequent destruction of the world, in return for three American dollars, which the staff at The Underground gladly handed over. But it all seemed a little too easy, and comments by staff members seemed to reflect an eerie sense of edginess.

According to the Master of all things Lizardly, "It's a joke, too many loopholes. Besides, who thinks a piece of paper is going to stop him anyhow?", and according to the Pickle Goddess, "It's a plot to make us let down our guard, or he is drugged on Ratboy fumes." I almost agree with those statements, but with the eagerness that Lloyd signed the treaty, it was pretty obvious that Lloyd's plans for world conquest before July were not exactly carved in stone.

Others respondents were either thinking on a higher level than me, or just plain wacko. According to F.E.I. "It's very discrete. Discrete meaning we're doomed anyway." From what I can ascertain from this quote, F.E.I. thinks that It doesn't matter that Lloyd signed the treaty, because we're all doomed anyway. But I beg to differ, I would much rather live a few more months, than not live a few more months. And that of course brings us to the quote made by the newest Underground staff member, Mad Night Swine, If it were not made by him, I would not have published it, because of its disgusting language. but considering that it was made by Mad Night Swine, and he is always thinking a few levels above me, I will. According to Mad Night Swine, "I love Lloyd. He is God. Your petty treatises will not contain his brilliance. He has you by your pickles and won't let go." I'll let him try to explain that one to you, because I sure as hell can't. Another strange quote came from Da' Fat. It looked like he was going to write another quote that would surely enlighten us, and make the world a better place for all of the fluffy little bunnies, when we suddenly felt a gust of wind, and his pen was gone. Oh well, Maybe you can get just a little enlightened by what he did write "I think it is either the peace...", So as to leave the reader on a high note, now its time for the concluding paragraph.

In the words of a great Chinese General, "Wait by the river long enough, and you'll see the heads of your enemies float by." Now we've seen Lloyd's head float by, let's just hope he doesn't decide to reattach it.

I Joshua Anderson do hereby promise not to destroy, and or conquer the planet (Earth) until at least July of the year 1996 in exchange for the lump sum of 3.00 United States dollars.

Signed:

Joshua Anderson $3

Witnessed by:

[Redacted] Monkey Boy*
Lizard Master

(ED. Note: In the closing of the deal,

Lloyd said, "I can wait a few months."

* I was actually stupid enough to sign my real name on a document that Lloyd saw. To protect myself from the likes of KCM the real name has been blacked out.

Ratboy Meets Lloyd BY: TLM

I can't be stopped...

I can slice through anything...

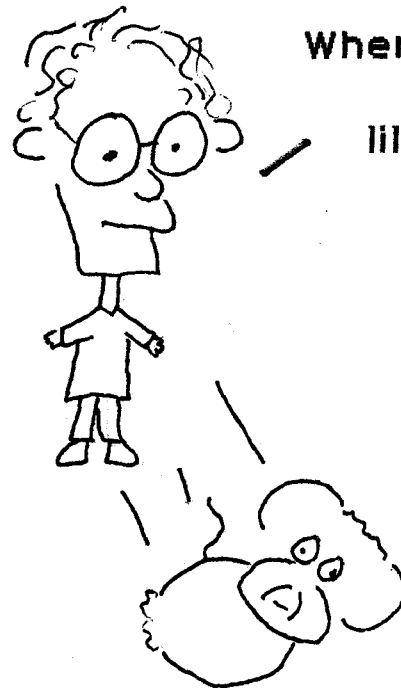

Watch me slice through this guy...

Where you goin'

lll' buddy?

---

You Can Call Me Gay, You Can Call Me Stupid, But Most Call Me Llama...

Hello out there and AAhhaha!!! This is my first article this year to the underground so I would like to introduce my self first. I am the famed and esteemed Llama. I have travel across the ocean to arrive here to be a part of the PTC and the EU newsletter. I am also the secret agent for the EU. See I am playing a psychological

(Continued On Next Page)

And Now...A 'Wise Saying...

By The Llama...

If you are ever feeling sick, and you feel like
you are going to throw
up, eat lotsa Starburst
.....You'll probably still spew, but at least it will taste good....

(Llama Contd')

game with Mr. Lloyd. Every time I see him, I call out his name. Since I am a specially trained Llama, I know how to throw my voice quite well and Mr. Lloyd then thinks that Lucifer is talking to him and telling him what to do. By doing this I hope to one day achieve the goal of total mind control of Mr. Lloyd and use his powers to aid in world peace instead of world destruction. My task has recently become easier thanks to the signed contract that TLM has gotten from Mr. Lloyd. This will give me more time to control his puny mind.

I will try to keep in touch with the rest of the world but I must go back to my little friends in the sky now. Oh, by the way, did I mention that I was abducted by little men (who are now my friends) when I was younger. That is why I have weird dreams today and sayings today.

- 1) Vocational training
- 2) Love it.
- 3) Hitler and/or Stalin
- 4) Seasons in the Abyss (?)
- 5) They gave a valid effort but it was futile.
- 6) Don't have any specific.
- 7) I would work with the mafia to control crime.
- 8) A teacher mistook me for a sexual harasser.

You heard it here these answers will go down in history as how the mind of a psychopathic maniac works.

Thank you very much

Llama