

The Ely Underground

Reading this may save or end your life!

A Letter From The Editor

Health Report

BY: THRASH MONGO

I would like to start off this issue of the Underground with the idea of unity. The Underground has all forms of people who both write for and read this newsletter; Democrat, Republican, black, white, tall, short. It crosses all religious boundaries and extends out to the far reaches of Ely High. This unity has never been witnessed at any time before, and although it is sad that the threat of the end of humanity itself is what was needed, I joy in the fact that is possible. It is because of this that I dedicate myself to making sure this publication of facts remains in print. Nor sleet, hail, interrogation by Lloyd, curses from the KCM, advancement on any death list, or the ending of the world as we know it will stop the printing of these facts. I also know, that in event of my death, this will live on. It is needed to with hold the unity, the only possibility of our salvation.

At any rate, we have a great issue this week. The appearance of a truly masterful writer, Thrash Mongo, the exposure of another Russian assault attempt, and KCM's further talks of a possible alliance are all included in this publication of truth. ---TLM

HOW TO PROTECT YOURSELF FROM TEACHERS LAME JOKES

Seeing as this is my first publication, I think that it is my duty to give you the information that may save your life.....or help you get a better grade. As you may know, some teachers at Ely tell such lame jokes that they have been know to drive students out of their minds. The teachers that you must try hardest to avoid, at any and all costs, are Physics II teachers, and a certain white haired, male Latin teacher. If you ever have a close encounter with one of these creatures when they tell a joke, DO NOT RUN! If you run, they can sense your fear, which is what they feed upon. What you must do to live through this crisis, is to act like you heard the joke even though you are really blocking it out, then give your absolutely most convincing laugh. These two steps will not only save your life, but you may get enough extra points to pass a class where you turned in homework with a photo copy of your butt attached to it.

Lotto and Life Made Easy By Curse Master!

by: Monkey Boy

The Klingon Curse Master has once again astounded his classmates with his amazing intellect. This time the Curse Master has announced that he has found a way to win the lottery! As if that weren't enough, he also figured out that the theory of life is "organized chaos", or when spelled backwards, "Soahc dezin agro", which is Klingon for space cheese. All those that doubted the Curse Master were quickly put back in place when the Curse Master made an island out of paper clips and snot. Although actually he didn't have to do this, because after he wins the lottery this weekend, he will have enough money to buy an island. The Curse Master predicts that the winning lottery numbers this week will be:

Katso Nilpas Amok

Tropok Sokto Tootsas!

Using this you too can be on the road to millions! good luck all you lotto players.

Curse Master Betrays World!

by: Monkey Boy

An Artist's depiction of the Russian Potatoe Mutant.

The Klingon Curse Master has once again proven that he is not a figure to be trusted. Earlier this week this reporter noticed The Curse Master speaking with Mr. Lloyd, when questioned about the incident, The Curse Master said "I'm only teaching him [Mr. Lloyd] magic." ONLY TEACHING HIM MAGIC! As if that weren't enough, The Curse Master was also heard to be telling Mr. Lloyd the whereabouts of a certain Ely Underground staff member. Whether or not The Curse Master knows the implications of what he is doing, It is this reporters strong opinion that The Curse Master incident must be resolved quickly, for if the Curse Master were to be lured to the dark side, who knows what tragedy might befall the world? what nation in the World could survive for more than a few days against The Curse master's Nuclear weapons, his libraries full of curses, and Mr. Lloyd's super human strength? sadly enough, none.

Many were wondering why I (TLM) and the Fat were not in school on Tuesday. The answer is quite simple, on Tuesday the Fat and I were in Russia to find out what the russians are up to lately. Apparently they had almost perfected the mutant potatoe, when it suddenly went beserk, killing three of their top scientists. We also noticed that a certain power hungry world dominator and his sidekick (Mr. Lloyd and Ratboy), were trying to penetrate Russian national defenses posing as a rock band called "The Happy Fellows". They stuck out like a sore thumb, so they were quickly detained by the KGB. Unfortunately for the world, they escaped, and are still at large.

cartoon characters, performs at a festival in Yerevan, Armenia. Soviet rock tends to be as tame as the name of one of the bands: The Happy Fellows.

And Now...A Wise Saying....By The Llama

People say I am gay and stupid.
 I say, So what?, can't we all
 be brothers?
